Typically, the highest resolution possible between both the PC and Quick-Connect USB is used. However, not all OS and application combinations are altogether typical.

Loughran is accused of driving a car to New York City on Feb. 7, 2014, to carry out a threat to attack Obama and the news media. Officials say Loughran allegedly told the driver he intends to "kill more than one thing and kill a lot of people." Authorities say the man also took photos of the vehicle on his cell phone, and that the car was located at a gas station, then taken to an airfield across the country, where officials tracked the vehicle and detained the man, along with a weapon..
